

Conversation in the Garden

Bruce: I think I got one seed.

Teacher: Very good!

Bruce: Now I'll cover it.

Teacher: Um, hum

Bruce: I'll water it.

Teacher: Now, WATER...

Erick: Be care-- Watch over it so it won't dry up.

Bruce: Yes.

Teacher: Bruce .

Bruce: What?

Teacher: Did you hear what Erick said? We have to watch over them so they won't dry up.

Erick: No, so they won't dry up, water—

Teacher: It's the WATER, more WATER. Yes, Erick. Very good idea.

Erick: Because it happened to me the other day.

Teacher: What happened to you?

Erick: I was at home and all the water was dried up.

Teacher: Ohhhh...

Erick: And only one (plant) is left. What are you doing?

Bruce: I just plant this seed.

Teacher: Good, plant them.

Erick: And are you going to put more water?

Teacher: Yes, very good idea.

Erick: Did he plant his seed?

Teacher: Uh huh. He planted THE seed and now he is WATERING it.
