

Mathematics Knowledge and Skills: Measurement: Amounts-On-A-Graph

Teacher: Karma. How do you know apples is people's favorite?

Girl: You eat it.

Teacher: Well, they eat it. There's something else. When we look at this picture, something tells us. Ryder?

Ryder: Because it's the tallest.

Teacher: It's the...

Ryder: See, that one's one. That one's tall -- that one's little; that one's tall, and that one's medium.

Teacher: Okay, so you kind of compared them. This is the shortest, or little, like you said. This is the tallest, which also has the most stamps. And this one's sort of in between. Medium? With an in-between amount of stamps. Sounds like a good idea to me.
