

Using Language and Vocabulary: Sugar Dissolved

Teacher: Stir it up. What is the sugar doing? Does anyone know? Brooklyn?

Brooklyn: It's...it's mixing up into the water.

Teacher: Yeah, it's dissolving in the water. So, you stir it and stir it and stir it, and then you're only going to see what?

Children: Water.

Teacher: Water. Because the sugar dissolved in your water.

Boy: I cannot see any more sugar in my water.

Child 1: Good.

Child 2: Me either.

Child 3: Me either.

Child 4: Me either.
